Information:: Whoever thinks small towns lack big talent may want to reconsider that thought. From the small, rural town of St. Stephens, SC comes the hottest female rap artist South Carolina has ever seen. Crystal Broughton, aka Cristyle, brings a new type of female swagger to the rap game that is unequivocally dynamic.

Although only 23 years old, Cristyle is no newcomer to the art of rap. This talented writer/artist has always had a passion for music. She began rapping at the age of 15, spitting her “hot sixteen” during freestyle battles on local radio station, WWVZ-93 Jamz. Since those days of reigning “Queen of the 9 o’clock Freestyle”, Cristyle has refined her style and has created a significant buzz throughout the South. Cristyle is a new breed of the female rap artist. She uses toughness, attitude, and lyrical skills, instead of using sexuality, in her climb to the top.

That climb to the top has not been easy. Cristyle has worked tirelessly to become the first female rap artist from South Carolina to break nationally. Her determination caught the attention of Carlos “Mr. Lex” Irving, producer/CEO of the local independent label TruStory Entertainment. “Cristyle is an amazing lyricist with tremendous skill. I knew when I met her that she would go far.”

Irving’s vision proved compatible with Cristyle’s talent. Their collaboration has brought about a great deal of exposure for this rising star. Here songs have been played on local radio stations and college campuses. Cristyle has since performed in various arenas throughout the Charleston-SC area and beyond. Cristyle has been privileged to grace performance stages in Savannah, Atlanta, and NYC. Her beats and lyrics have been featured on heavy mixes with two of the hottest DJs in the country – DJ Goldie and DJ Treal (of the Legend of Doom). She has also been featured in magazines, GeeChee One Magazine and SEC magazine.

By way of the small town of St. Stephens, SC comes Cristyle, “bringing it” and headed towards superstar status. Although confident and outspoken, this lyrical prodigy remains humble and grounded. These are the very qualities that will guide her towards a promising future. FYI – keep your ears and your eyes open. Cristyle is coming to a radio station near you.
